Year-End Night Event Brings Faculty and Guests Together in Celebration

The university held its 2025 Year-End Night event on December 7 at the Ramada Hotel, marking the conclusion of the academic year in a warm and festive atmosphere. Approximately 50 faculty and staff members attended the event, along with four guests visiting from Korea, making it a meaningful occasion of appreciation and fellowship.

The gathering was organized as an opportunity to reflect on the year's achievements and to recognize the dedication and hard work of the university's faculty and staff. Participants enjoyed the event in a relaxed setting, sharing meals and conversations while strengthening their sense of community.

A highlight of the evening was a generous gesture by Mr. Kang In-cheol, a supporter visiting from Korea, who spontaneously donated a special prize consisting of round-trip airfare for two between Mongolia and Jeju Island, along with a three-night, four-day accommodation package. His unexpected contribution was met with enthusiastic applause and sincere appreciation from all attendees.

The event also included an award ceremony honoring outstanding service, during which Four faculty and staff members received the Outstanding Faculty Award in recognition of their commitment and contributions to the university.

In his remarks, President Chung Soon-Hoon expressed his heartfelt gratitude to all faculty and staff for their dedication throughout the year. He encouraged everyone to look ahead to 2026 with renewed commitment, emphasizing the university's mission to grow as an institution that embraces and nurtures students with care and compassion.

The Year-End Night event concluded as a meaningful celebration of gratitude, unity, and shared hope for the coming year, leaving participants with warm memories and renewed motivation for the new academic term.

University Enters Winter Break After Completing Fall Semester

The university has completed all academic activities for the 2025 Fall Semester, which was conducted over 17 weeks from August 25 to December 19, and officially entered the winter break beginning on December 22.

The winter break will last for approximately one month, with the 2026 Spring Semester scheduled to begin on January 26. During this period, students are expected to take time to rest after a demanding semester while also engaging in self-development activities such as strengthening their academic foundations, exploring career paths, or enhancing personal skills.

For faculty members, the winter break provides an important opportunity for research, reflection, and preparation for the upcoming semester. By focusing on scholarly work and professional development, faculty are expected to return refreshed and ready to deliver high-quality education in the new academic term.

A university representative expressed hope that the winter break would serve as a balanced period of rest and growth for both students and faculty, adding that the university looks forward to beginning the 2026 Spring Semester with renewed energy and enthusiasm.
